How it works

Return to How To Play

An excellent place to start would be with a prize, so why don't we do that. Let's say Fred has some extra cash he wants to give away. Is good ole Fred a lunatic ? Some say yes but not because he wants to give away money on CStakes. When Fred gives a prize at CStakes he is paid for doing it. Fred presents a $5000.00 prize and can be compensated up to $6500.00 when the prize is given away.

Fred's friend Bill has no extra money he is willing to give away. Bill does not give money away. But Bill does like to win money (Who doesn't ?) so he signs on to CStakes. When Bill first comes to the CStakes web site he registers as a player. Bill is smarter than he looks so when he is asked questions about himself he knows that by providing accurate answers CStakes can ensure that he sees advertising that will have a higher likelihood of being of interest to him. For example by answering male when asked about his sex he will probably not see a lot of advertising for feminine hygiene products. After registering, Bill finds the listing for Fred's $5000.00 and clicks on it. Bill then visits an advertiser's page and is entered into the sweepstakes. It has however, come to the attention of the rules committee that Bill really is not as smart as he looks and has written a program to play from him. When he is at work. When he is playing golf. When he is out with his girlfriend. Well you get the picture. Poor Bill is disqualified and does not win the money. The CStakes rules committee frowns mightily on program players. Another guy, Dave who has been playing by the rules and seeing the web sites he has been sent to wins the prize.

SomeCom Inc. registers to be an advertiser on the CStakes site. Since their product line is of prime interest to men they advertise to men of a particular age group and income level (as do other advertisers). Many times when a male player clicks on Fred's $5000.00 link he is rerouted to SomeCom Inc.'s web site. When the women play to win Fred's truck they are sent to other advertisers sites that wish to advertise to women.

Once Dave wins the $5000.00 he is sent a check. Fred is also sent a check for $6500.00 and has just made a 30% profit.
